RCMP POLICING PRIORITIES

The RCMP is committed to preserving the peace, upholding the law and providing quality service in partnership with the communities it serves. The purpose of this brief, eight-question survey is to ensure the public has a say in what the RCMP priorities are for the region. This is not a crime reporting tool but allows the public to provide input into how policing priorities are formed.

Each year, RCMP from the Drayton Valley and Breton detachments establish policing priorities to ensure that, in addition to responding to calls for service, members focus on the policing issues identified by the public as being the most important. These priorities are determined based on the feedback the RCMP receives from the municipalities and communities they serve.

Brazeau County and the Town of Drayton Valley have partnered with the RCMP to conduct this brief survey to ensure that RCMP priorities align with those of the public. Information collected from this survey will be reviewed and considered by the RCMP, County and Town Councils.

This survey will remain open until February 9, 2018.

This survey can be taken online at: www.surveymonkey.com/r/PS2JY9X

Alternatively, surveys can be dropped off in-person or mailed to any of the addresses found below.

The Importance of Family Literacy

Family Literacy Day is Saturday January 27. Here are ten tips for how you can help nurture the growth of literacy in your little one!

1. Read to Them – It's never too early to read aloud to your child. In fact, The American Academy of Pediatrics recommends reading to children in infancy! This special time actually promotes healthy brain development and serves to bond parent and child closer together.
2. Read in Front of Them – If parents "practice what they preach" about the importance of reading, it sends a loud and clear message to their kids that reading is, in fact, valuable.
3. Make Space for Reading and Writing – One way parents can make literacy appealing to children is by providing an inviting place to read and write. A desk with pens, pencils, markers and paper nearby will encourage your little one to hone his writing skills. A small bookshelf filled with books, with a comfy beanbag close by, will promote reading.
4. Take Advantage of Windows of Opportunity – Parents should look for natural opportunities throughout the day to support literacy development. Have your kiddo write the shopping list for you, read the traffic signs as you drive, and name all the things in the kitchen that start with the letter P.
5. Be Involved with Homework – If your little one is school-age, then be available to help with homework. Children often feel overwhelmed and unsure about their assignments. Your presence can help to alleviate their anxiety as well as remind them that you place a high value on their education.
6. Visit the Library – Frequent visits to your public library go a long way in nurturing literacy growth in your child. Take advantage of story hours, book borrowing, and other activities offered by your local library branch.
7. Celebrate Successes – Everyone likes a pat on the back every now and then. Be sure to celebrate when your kiddo spells a hard word correctly, finishes her book, or writes her name for the first time!
8. Turn off the Television – Kids often need a little extra encouragement to pick up a book or pencil and paper. Parents can help this process by turning off the television at certain hours of the day. You may be surprised at what your kid finds to do once the TV is off!

9. Play Around with Words – Young children learn best while playing. Make sure you provide toys that encourage literacy development. Remember, these don't need to be the latest tech toys with all the bells and whistles. Simple toys such as ABC blocks and Magna Doodles will offer plenty of learning stimulation!

10. Join a pre-school Play group to help develop literacy skills. Groups that are available in our area are Frist Steps, Breton Playschool, Storytime at the Breton Library, Parent Link Program – ABC's & 123, MOP's – Moms of Preschool children.

BELL - Let Talk – Mental Health Awareness Day – Jan. 31

- Many people living with a mental illness report that negative stereotypes about mental illness, and the resulting potential for discrimination, causes them more suffering than the illness itself. As a result, two thirds of those suffering from mental illness are too afraid to seek the help that they need.

Mental illness affects people of all ages and from all walks of life. It can take many forms, including depression, anxiety and schizophrenia. Most individuals find ways to live with their illnesses but how they are treated by others often proves to be more of a challenge than the illness itself.

We invite you to join the conversation around mental health On Bell Let's Talk Day, January 31. Stigma surrounded many diseases in the past, but concerted efforts to confront these attitudes resulted in change for the better, including better treatment, more funding for research, and greater understanding from family, friends and colleagues. The goal is to achieve the same level of acceptance and understanding regarding mental illness.

On Bell Let's Talk Day, for every text, mobile and long distance call made on the Bell network, tweet using #BellLetsTalk, social media video view, or use of the Facebook or Snapchat filter, Bell will contribute 5 cents more to Canadian mental health programs.

You can also learn more about the five simple ways to end stigma and download the Bell Let's Talk toolkit -://<https://letstalk.bell.ca/en/toolkit> to begin your own conversation about mental health at home, school or in the workplace.

Join us as we work together to break down the stigma that surrounds mental illness.

Volunteer Income Tax Program - A new automated telephone filing service called File my Return is available to some individuals for the 2017 Tax Year. Over 950,000 eligible individuals with low income or a fixed income that is unchanged year-to-year will be invited to file their income tax and benefit returns simply by answering a series of short questions and giving some personal information. Canadians eligible to use File my Return will receive personalized invitation letters beginning mid-February 2018. This service allows all the deductions, benefits and credits that the user is entitled to, without the need for any calculations or paper forms to fill out.

If you are eligible for this service and wish to be a part of the Volunteer Income Tax Program we can still assist you in filing your 2017 taxes. We can assist you by helping you make the phone call, or returns can be filed as in previous years with our Tax program. If you receive one of these letters and require clarification, please contact our office at 780-696-3636

SERENITY FAMILY SERVICE SOCIETY - YOUR NOT-FOR-PROFIT SOCIETY

Covenant Corner

from Pastor Jeff Gooderham

In his book, Up From Slavery, Booker T. Washington tells of meeting an ex-slave from Virginia who exemplified the kind of sacrifice that is sometimes involved in keeping promises. This man had entered into a contract with his master whereby he would be allowed to purchase freedom for himself by paying so much for so many years to his master. And, while he was earning the money to pay for himself, his master released him from service on his plantation, so that he would be able to labor wherever and for whomever he could earn the most money.

Well, the slave went north to Ohio because the wages were better there. But each year, he would return to his master's plantation to present that year's payment to his master. After a few years, the Nation was embroiled in the Civil War, and President Lincoln issued his Emancipation Proclamation which ended slavery and brought freedom to all the slaves, including this man. But, he still owed his master three hundred dollars.

Now, think about this for a minute. This former slave was free. He didn't have to pay his former master the final three hundred dollars to purchase his freedom—he had already been made free by the Emancipation Proclamation. But he had made a promise. And he was a man of his word. And so he walked from Ohio back to Virginia and presented his former master with the full amount he had promised him, down to the last dollar.

God made us a promise, one that would take an immense sacrifice on His part to keep. He promised that one day the relationship that our sin had broken would be restored. That one day the curse of sin and death would be defeated. That one day God would be with us. "Behold the Virgin shall conceive and bear a Son, and shall call His name Emmanuel; God with us! God owed us nothing, we had broken His covenant, we stood in need of judgement, but rather God gave us mercy and a promise of freedom!

At the sacrifice of His own Son, God kept and fulfilled that promise, "For God so loved the world that He sent His one and only Son that whosoever believes in Him shall not perish but have everlasting life!"
