

THORSBY TARGET

Share the Memories

From Robert Krueger

Come and join us at St. Matthew's Lutheran Church in Thorsby on June 22 as we pay tribute to Pastor Scott Brown for his service at St. Matthew's and in the Thorsby area. We will begin with a potluck meal beginning at 6:30 pm, followed with an evening of memories, acknowledgements and fellowship.

Pastor Scott, wife Pam (pictured below), and son Christopher joined our community 10 years ago and Scott became the spiritual leader for St. Matthew's and an active participant in Thorsby, interacting with the community, other faith groups and the Thorsby Legion. During his tenure he has performed countless services, baptisms, weddings, funerals, hospital and seniors home visits, and participated in many community functions. His active leadership as Pastor at St. Matthew's and activities within the Thorsby community will be missed.

Please join us on June 22 to pay tribute to Pastor Scott and Pam for their roles of service within this community. It will be an evening of reminiscing, visiting together and sharing best wishes for their future. There will be an opportunity to share your stories and memories during the program.

Dear Community

We thank you so much for participating in the H.U.G. Event with our family.

Our family is so touched and grateful by your generosity and kindness that you have given us. We really, really appreciate your help and support.

It is a blessing to know we have so many people around us. It makes our family get stronger everyday and helps us to keep going even with our loss.

Raise Your Hand If...

My name is Rhonda Fiveland and I was the organizer of the H.U.G. Event (Healing Using Generosity) we held Saturday, June 9, 2018.

In the weeks leading up to and including the day of the event, I have been approached dozens and dozens of times by people telling me how amazing I am for organizing this event. My father, my aunt have received phone calls being told the same, "Rhonda Fiveland is amazing and special for organizing this event."

My response to these comments has been the same, "No. I am not special. I am just one person in our community and this time I just happen to be the organizer."

So, I am asking all who read this article to play a game with me to prove that I am not, in fact, 'special' for organizing this event. Let's play a game we all played in school - RAISE YOUR HAND IF....

I will ask a question and if it applies to you, simply raise your hand. My prediction is that by the end of this game, ALL of our hands will be in the air and we will prove that I am merely just one member of our community that has done something we have all done over and over again one way or another.

So, RAISE YOUR HAND IF you have ever volunteered at your child's school; lunches, track meet, kite flying day, Grad, etc. RAISE YOUR HAND IF you have ever volunteered for your child's sporting events. RAISE A HAND IF you have ever volunteered to make lunch for a funeral. RAISE YOUR HAND IF you have ever volunteered for your community graveyard clean up. RAISE YOUR HAND IF you have ever volunteered for a 4H Club. RAISE YOUR HAND IF you have ever volunteered for a club in your community; Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce, The Legion, The Moose, VASA Lodge, etc. RAISE YOUR HAND IF you have ever volunteered at a Senior's Lodge. RAISE YOUR HAND IF you have ever volunteered for your local community center hosting the Lakedell Fair or Bull Riding or Children Farm Safety, etc. I could go on and on and on. ALL of our hands are already in the air, are they not?

When asked WHY I organized this event, you have heard me say that if I started it, I knew others would join in. However, the true credit starts with my father and mother; Ron and Leona Fiveland. I was raised that if someone was in need and you could help, well, you helped. That's it.

So, here is the last question, for the farmers in the community, in honor of my parents. RAISE YOUR HAND IF you or your father ever drove the combine down the road to the neighbours and combined all night to help them get their crops off before rain or snow. AND, AND you or your mother followed behind with the grain truck.....

The first thank you I would like to give for me organizing this H.U.G. Event is to my parents; Ron and Leona Fiveland for raising me right. The second thank you is to all of YOU!!!!

It IS ALL OF US that made this beautiful event a success. Thank you for every donation; every dollar, item and time. Thank you for every prayer for the Jo family.

I, Rhonda Fiveland, am so blessed to be raised in a community that is sooooo volunteer oriented. I am so proud to call myself an Albertan.

THANK YOU ALL.....

Alberta RCMP reminds road users that #SummerSafety is a shared responsibility

From Alberta RCMP

Alberta's highways are busy places, and in the summertime, there are more trucks, tractor-trailers and buses on Alberta roads. This greater mix of vehicles increases the risk of commercial and passenger vehicle collisions. The Alberta RCMP reminds motorists that every road user has a part to play in ensuring their own #SummerSafety, and that of others, by following some handy traffic tips.

Motorists and riders around you should always see you and know what you are doing. Stay alert to the actions of other drivers at intersections and signal well in advance when planning to turn or change lanes to give other drivers time to react accordingly. (Alberta Transportation 2015)

Drivers of passenger vehicles: Your vehicle is likely smaller than most commercial vehicles so pay extra attention to your blind spots. Allow yourself extra time to pass a big rig and never cut in front of commercial vehicles. Make sure to stay far enough behind big trucks to see both side mirrors on the truck. (Alberta Transportation 2015)

Drivers of commercial vehicles: Proper pre- and post-trip inspections help you ensure that your vehicle is within the allowed weight limit and in good operating condition. Maintain a large following distance between you and the vehicle in front of you when there is a large truck behind you requiring a longer stopping distance. (Alberta Transportation 2009, 2015)

Riders of ATVs and other off-highway vehicles (OHV): During the summer months, ATV enthusiasts hit off-road trails. Make sure you always wear proper safety gear, obey the rules of the road, respect posted signs and use age-appropriate ATVs. All ATV operators under 16 years of age must not drive an adult-size ATV.

Cyclists: Motorists and cyclists need to respect each other, watch out for each other and give each other a safe space to operate in. Make sure you wear the appropriate safety gear.

All drivers: It is never okay to drive any vehicle impaired. The dangerous practice of driving under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs is unfortunately still common. Impaired driving affects drivers of all vehicles, including off-roaders. In June 2016, there were five ATV fatalities in Alberta RCMP jurisdiction, three of which involved alcohol impairment.

Fatigue is also a form of impairment. Fatigue affects your ability to drive by slowing reaction time, decreasing awareness and impairing judgement. When planning a road trip, make sure to include rest stops and pull over if you're tired.

Construction zones pose their own set of risks. Obey all signs, slow down, watch for road workers and be prepared to stop. When workers are present, fines for speeding in construction zones double.

Supt. Gary Graham, Alberta RCMP Traffic Services, reminds us that "sharing the road with other vehicles, no matter the type, is essential to keeping our roads safe. Large commercial vehicles can be dangerous if you are not aware of their limitations. They take longer to stop, have larger blind spots and may not see you."

"Highway traffic is everyone's business" says Supt. Rick Gardner, Alberta Sheriffs Traffic Operations. He adds that "driving off-road does not mean that you are not subject to the same laws. The majority of the collisions we deal with are still a result of speed, drivers impaired by drugs and/or alcohol and not wearing appropriate gear."

Alberta Health Services warns public about scam

From AHS

Alberta Health Services (AHS) is warning the public about a text scam involving the use of the organization's name.

Recently, this new phishing scam has been sent to some members of the public's cellphones. The message states 'Alberta Health Services sent you funds' and includes a link for Albertahealthfunds.co

If the link is clicked, it opens a new page that looks like an Interac E-Transfer page and seeks the personal and banking information of the recipient.

Alberta Health Services never sends text messages informing members of the public that money has been sent to them. AHS does not send funds owed to Albertans via Interac E-Transfer under any circumstances.

Phishing is a method of tricking people into clicking on malicious links and following instructions to download files and confirm personal details such as financial information, usernames and passwords. By sharing this information, criminals can take your money or access private information.

Protect yourself by watching for any text or online messages asking you to 'pay money to get money,' especially if the messages have a sense of urgency or poor spelling and grammar.

For more information about phishing scams like these and other online threats to personal information, check out the Canada Anti-Fraud Centre Website.

Alberta Health Services is the provincial health authority responsible for planning and delivering health supports and services for more than four million adults and children living in Alberta. Its mission is to provide a patient-focused, quality health system that is accessible and sustainable for all Albertans.
