LAVERS, Howard Charles Shepherd

October 15, 1963 – August 20, 2019

Howard Charles Shepherd Lavers passed away on the morning of August 20, 2019 at the age of 55.

A self-proclaimed news, trivia, music, and sports junkie, he would have probably been more interested in noting that October 15 is also the anniversary of Wayne Gretzky passing Gordie Howe as the NHL's All-Time Scorer in 1989, and that August 20 is the day the Rolling Stones released "(I Can't Get No) Satisfaction" in the UK in 1965, than he would commemorating his own birthday or asking people to mourn his passing.

Howard will be missed by his step-father Patrick Hatfield; children Celia (Cody) and Andrew; brothers Mark, Christopher, and Jamie; grandson Grayson; partner Sandy; as well as numerous nieces, nephews, relatives, and friends.

Certainly, he will also be missed by his "critters," Sydney (dog) and Puppy (cat).

Howard was predeceased by his parents, Doreen and Jim.

Details on a service are to follow.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to Prostate Cancer Canada at www.prostatecancer.ca.

“Our Mission at Big K Fertilizer Corp is to provide farmers products & services that promote healthy soil & plants through soil applied and foliar fertility in a sustainable manner to maximize per acre return”

Bio-Sul Premium Plus

- 70% Elemental Sulphur & 30% Compost
- Cost per pound of actual S can't be beat
- Eliminate bulky Ammonium Sulphate from bins and seeders - more Acres Per Fill
- Compost also starts microbial activity on ES
- Full Service Included! Trucking/Product/Spreading
- Application rate ensures sustainable soil sulphur levels

LOWEST COST

Bio-Sul Premium Plus is the lowest cost per lb source of sulphur on the market! Compost as a carrier reduces the price of our fertilizer in addition to other benefits.

LONGEST LASTING

Variable particle size means that our product becomes available naturally over time. Conversion coincides with good growing conditions. Expect one application to last multiple years longer than any other in the industry.

MOST CONVENIENT

High application rates of this economical nutrient means multiple years of sulfur availability. Variable particle size means that sulphur becomes available with good growing conditions when your crop needs it the most. Speed up your seeding operations, hedge against rising fertilizer prices for the future.

Why should you use Humic?

Six reasons you should be using Humic..

Humic acid is the most powerful and beneficial input in agriculture and yet there are still many growers around the world who are yet to discover a revolutionary product. It remains a mystery as to why a substance so intensively researched and proven should remain so poorly understood and utilized.

- Humic acid is not a synthetic or man-made product.
- Humic acid is the most powerful known stimulant of beneficial fungi in your soil.
- Humic acid enhances fertilizer inputs, making this investment more efficient and useful.
- Humic acid stabilizes fertilizers that will otherwise leach through the soil or become unavailable.
- Humic acid improves soil structure.
- Humic acid increases crop resilience.

10 Years of Savings Using The TFSA (Tax Free Savings Account)

Happy 10-year anniversary to the tax-free savings account. That's right, the TFSA, once a secondary savings account where people would mostly store short-term cash, hit double digits in January and it's sure grown up over the years.

People have realized that virtually anything that can be held in an RRSP can be held in a TFSA. That's stocks, bonds, mutual funds, more long-term investments – you can put long-term retirement assets into it.

As the years have gone by, the TFSA's annual dollar limit has grown. In 2013 it rose to $5,500 and, as of January 1, 2019, it's $6,000. (It did jump to $10,000 in 2015, but went back to $5,500 the following year.) The current total contribution room for those were at least 18 years old in 2009, Canadian residents and who have never used a TFSA is $63,500. That's a lot of room to work with.

With 10 years having passed since the introduction of the TFSA, we wanted to know if Canadians are thinking about these accounts differently than they once did. We spoke with Jonathan Braun, Manager of Tax and Estate planning at IG Wealth Management.

HOW DO PEOPLE VIEW THE TFSA TODAY?

When it first came out most people saw it as another savings account – a literal bank savings account – because it had savings account in the title. So, they were a little confused and thought it was limited to just savings. Over the years, people have realized that virtually anything that can be held in an RRSP can be held in a TFSA. That's stocks, bonds, mutual funds, more long-term investments – you can put long-term retirement assets into it.

NOW THAT TOTAL CONTRIBUTION ROOM HAS INCREASED TO MORE THAN $63,000, HAS THE PERCEPTION OF THE TFSA AS A SHORT-TERM PLACE FOR CASH CHANGED?

It has, or at the very least, people now have more flexibility. When the contribution limit was only $5,000, you weren't saving a lot in tax. Now that you have $63,000 of room, the tax savings on investment earnings start to make a difference. As well, because it's a viable option for mutual funds and long-term investing, you can make it a part of your retirement plan. And with a $6,000 limit, which will start creeping up to a larger figure over the next few years, it's becoming more relevant to a person's retirement.

HOW WOULD HIGH NET-WORTH INDIVIDUALS USE A TFSA?

Not much has changed there. Most high net-worth individuals would probably max out their RRSP first and then max out their TFSA. They're probably already maxing it out every year – it wouldn't take much for them to do that. But anyone who isn't taking advantage of a TFSA, should.

NOW, 10 YEARS ON, WHAT DO YOU LIKE ABOUT THE TFSA?

It's simple and it's great for people who max out their RRSP and want another place where their money can grow tax-free. Personally, I use it for long-term retirement planning. So, I put in the maximum each year. When I pull it out in retirement, I won't have to pay tax on any withdrawals, so it can supplement my other sources of retirement income. It's just another tool people can use to save, and save as cheaply as possible.

MLA REPORT

from The Office of MLA Mark Smith,
Member of the Legislative Assembly
for Drayton Valley - Devon

One of the great things about being an MLA is getting to meet and eventually serve your constituents.

Over the past three weeks I have had so many opportunities to celebrate special events with constituents.

The Calmar parade and the gigantic flea market down main street has become one of the things I most enjoy attending. Many of you have seen the little red 1965 Corvair my wife drives in all of the parades across the constituency. So it was a lot of fun to discover in the antique store in Calmar an old set of 1965 Alberta license plates that are even red and white that can now adorn my parade car.

There are not many businesses in this constituency that can claim to have been in business for 90 years. So it was an amazing night spent celebrating the 90th anniversary of the Thorsby Hotel and Bar. There was great music, lots of people and it was so interesting to see some of the old pictures of the hotel over the years, especially the picture of the Thorsby Men's baseball team taken in the hotel.

Just the other day I went down to where the oil spill south of Drayton Valley occurred. No one wants to see an oil spill, especially one that affects a creek that feeds the North Saskatchewan River but I was so proud of the clean-up effort I saw going on. The scope of the effort taken to clean up what in comparison to some of the spills we have read about is a relatively small spill was impressive. The booms, skimmers and clean-up crews, the vac trucks and oversight by the AER all of these people and agencies were working together and getting the job done. It made me proud to be part of the best, most environmentally responsible oil industry anywhere in the world. Good job guys!

I also had the pleasure this past week of attending the media event for EAVOR an Alberta energy company drilling a deep well geo-thermal pilot project near Rocky Mountain House. Several hundred attendees saw two rigs two and a half kilometers apart drill two wells 2.5 kilometres deep and then drill laterally and connect the two bore holes together to create a continuous loop that will collect the heat of the earth. I don't believe that the expertise and technology exists anywhere else in the world to do this and should the technology prove successful then the first commercial geo-thermal electrical project is slated to begin sometime in the next year in Drayton Valley.

We live in an amazing province and this constituency has so much going for it and it is a privilege to represent you inside and outside of the Legislature.

Library Chatter

From Gail O'Neil

The Summer Reading Program's last two days are Tuesday, August 27 and Wednesday, August 28. Thank you Erika for running all these great programs for the Library kids! Especially the reading challenge "The Five Life Cycles of a Frog". The kids read 200 to 1000 pages and at each level they were rewarded with a prize, the top prize of a 1000 pages was a gift card to Chapters or Chapters online and a Letter of Achievement for their teacher. This contest ends Wednesday, August 28 at 4 pm, so make sure everyone gets their page totals into Erika.

There will be an end of SRC party on Wednesday, August 28. Please let Erika know if your child has any food allergies.

September 5 - Author Visit from 5-7pm. The library welcomes Pearl Gregor author of "I", the Woman, Planted the Tree: A journey through dreams to the feminine, also: Authoring Self: A journey through dreams to the feminine. This event will include a reading, Q & A, and book signing. Come and meet Pearl or renew an old acquaintance!

Gear up your child for school the right way, with a comprehensive eye exam

It's that time of year again: summer is winding down, and it's time to get ready for back to school. Most parents' routines involve shopping for new clothing and school supplies so their children are prepared to succeed. What many parents tend to overlook is their child's most important learning tool: their eyes.

"Early comprehensive eye exams are critical to helping children succeed in life" says local optometrist Dr. Sara Starko. "A child's eyes are constantly used in the classroom and at play."

One in four children has a vision-related learning difficulty. A child with a visual problem won't know how the world looks and will assume that what they are seeing is normal. What's more, children with uncorrected vision or eye health problems face many barriers in life: academic, social and athletic.

It can be hard for a child to catch up after struggling and falling behind through the basics of reading, writing, and math. Countless children in Canada are told every day that they have a learning disability when in reality the problem was their vision. A vision screening is not enough.

"A child who sees 20/20 can still have a vision problem," says Dr. Starko. Visual acuity is one aspect of our visual system, but the skills needed for successful reading and learning are much more complex. Vision-related learning problems can cause children to reverse words when writing or copying, confuse the same word in the same sentence, skip lines while reading or read the same line twice. "Optometrists don't just check sight. They check how well the eyes work together and how sight is processed."

Vision problems aren't always obvious (especially if it's a problem with only one eye), and the development of a growing child's eyes doesn't stabilize until age 20. Alberta Health Care covers a comprehensive eye exam every year for children 18 and under. Dr. Starko recommends that babies have their first eye exam between six and nine months.
