On December 28, 2019 the Strawberry 4H Club organized a Puplic Speaking Workshop for their members, all members attended and turned the event into a great success. Following the Workshop, the 4H Club held their Puplic Speaking Event on January 19. Each member had to write a speech or prepare a presentation for the event. The speech participants also had to present an impromptu speech. All members did a fantastic job!

The winners of the event were:

Cleavers: 1st: Lena Kronschnabl, 2nd: Wyatt Scobie

Juniors: 1st: Justin Kronschnabl, 2nd: Abigall Harris

Intermediate Speech: 1st: Shaylin Wegner, 2nd: Stefanie Wegner

Senior: 1st: Jed Howlett

We wish our 1st place winners good luck and all the best when they move on to the 4H District Communication Finals on February 8, 2020. We also want to thank our judges, Tracy Musson, Debbie Schmidt and Sam Kobeluck, who did a wonderful job! In addition, we would like to thank the Morrowdale Community Centre for generously donating the use of their facility for our Puplic Speaking Workshop and Competition. The Strawberry 4h Club would also like to extend a big thank you to FCC for the generous donation to our Club.

If you are still wanting to donate bottles for our fundraiser, there are accounts set up at the Thorsby and Warburg Bottle Depot! You can contact Tim Wegner (Thorsby) at 780-789-4103 or Shauna Harakel (Warburg) at 780-918-3686 or any of the Strawberry 4h Club Members!

*It broke our hearts to lose you,
but you did not go alone.
A part of us went with you,
the day God took you home.
If tears could build a stairway,
and heartaches make a lane,
we'd walk our way to heaven,
and bring you back again.
In life we loved you dearly,
in death we love you still,
in our hearts you hold a place
no one could ever fill.*

The Habits of the Financially Confident...

BY IG WEALTH MANAGEMENT / PHIL GODDARD

The results of the annual IG Financial Confidence Index were recently released and they revealed some common habits of financially confident Canadians that we can all learn from.

The results of the second annual IG Financial Confidence Index were recently released and they revealed some common habits of financially confident Canadians that we can all learn from.

About the Index

The IG Financial Confidence Index is conducted annually in partnership with Ipsos Canada to understand Canadians' attitudes and levels of confidence towards their personal finances. IG is proud to support this effort as part of our Empower Your Tomorrow program, which builds the financial confidence of Canadians through financial literacy by conducting workshops and providing resources to groups in communities across Canada.

What the results say about financial confidence

The Index provides some great insights into how Canadians feel about their finances. The results show that having financial confidence is tied to having a plan, reviewing it regularly, and proactively adjusting it to keep up with life's changing circumstances. The financially confident demonstrate these three habits:

- 87% regularly review their finances
- The point of a regular review is to make sure you always know what is in your plan and how it is performing. By staying on top of things, you eliminate surprises. And that leads to improved confidence.
- 84% feel they are securing their financial future
- Having a financial plan helps you manage finances today and keeps you on track to secure your future. Confidence comes from the
- 86% feel they are making good financial decisions
- Every purchase, every payment, and every investment is an example of a financial decision. It's easier to feel confident about each one when there is a plan guiding all of your choices.

Your financial confidence and well-being

IG believes that we all benefit from greater financial literacy and the confidence it can bring. From the proactive service we provide to our clients to the workshops we conduct in communities across the country, to the charities we support, our goal is to give everyone the tools they need to enjoy all of life's possibilities.

That's also why we created the IG Living Snapshot This easy-to-use online tool is for people who do not yet have a comprehensive financial plan but are keen to understand their level of financial well-being. Encourage family and friends to take the quiz so they can see where they stand today and how they can be more financially confident tomorrow.

Please feel free to contact Phil Goddard and he will show you how to access this tool & quiz and let you know what to look for. You'll be glad you did.

Library Chatter

From Gail O'Neil

A big thank you to Mr. and Mrs. Hutchings for the generous donation of the magazine "Life is better Downhome". A magazine from Newfoundland and Labrador.

Saturday, February 15 is Flag Day, fly a Canadian flag to show respect and pride for this iconic symbol.

Wednesday, Feb. 19 at 6 pm is the Village of Warburg Library Board Meeting, this meeting takes place in the Library, use the front door to access the meeting. The public is welcome as guests to these meetings.

At the end of February the Library is borrowing the Coding kit from Yellowhead Regional Library, and will be offering this kit for patrons to use for one week, Wednesday, Feb. 26 to Saturday, Feb. 29. Most people are familiar with coding, for those who are not (like me), this is a good opportunity to try your hand at this.

Valentines Day is this month, and any kids wanting to make their Valentine cards instead of buying them, the Library has pre-made cards and supplies to make your own, no set date, just come to the library any Tue/Wed/Thurs 10 am-6 pm or Saturday Noon-4 pm.

A retro question. Does anyone remember the uwalk counters that people attached to their clothing and it counted every step you took and kept track so you know how many steps you take in a day, month, year? Well, the library still has 2 kits and I used one recently on a trip and was pleased to see how many steps I take in a day, I love to walk. The other kit still available at the library is the kilowatt ez power meter (donated from Fortis Alberta), this gadget can be borrowed from the Library and then you plug it into an appliance and the meter will let you know how much power is used.

Happy February, notice the days getting longer!?

Valentines Joke: What do you say to your single friends on Valentines Day? "Happy Independence Day!" LOL HaHa.

What is the Leduc Beaumont Devon Primary Care Network?

The Leduc Beaumont Devon Primary Care Network (LBD PCN) provides services for patients in the cities of Leduc and Beaumont, town of Devon and all communities in Leduc County. A group of 56 family physicians in 13 clinics along with additional healthcare professionals (nurses, dietitians, an exercise specialist, behavioural health consultants and mental health clinicians) work together to improve primary care for our patients. The LBD PCN offers support to our patients through the following services:

- Health promotion and disease prevention
- Diabetes management
- Weight management
- Nutrition concerns
- Exercise and activity support
- Mental health support
- Tobacco reduction and cessation
- Health education classes and workshops
- Senior care
- Specialty clinics
- Referral coordination
- After-hours clinics in Leduc and Beaumont

Primary Care Networks (PCNs) use a collaborative team approach to provide care for patients and to coordinate primary health care services provided by family physicians, Alberta Health Services and other health care professionals.

PCNs are a way to provide team support for family doctors by bringing teams of health professionals together; doctors, nurses, dietitians, social workers, mental health professionals, pharmacists, occupational and respiratory therapists and others. PCNs also manage 24-hour patient access to appropriate primary care services.

What are Primary Care Networks?

PCNs are a made-in-Alberta approach to improving access to and better coordination of care for patients across the province. In a PCN, a group of family doctors working with a multidisciplinary team and Alberta Health Services coordinate health services for patients. A PCN is not necessarily a bricks and mortar building – it is a network of doctors and other health providers such as nurses, dietitians, mental health professionals, therapists, pharmacists and others working together to provide primary health care to patients.

A PCN can be comprised of one clinic with many physicians and support staff, or several doctors in several clinics in a geographic area. Each network has the flexibility to develop programs and to provide services in a way that works locally to meet the specific needs of patients. This is done within the provincial Primary Care Initiative framework. The flexibility to develop local solutions to local health issues makes each PCN unique and encourages the PCN team to focus on the needs of the local patient population.

There are 41 PCNs operating throughout Alberta with more than 3800 family physicians and 1400 healthcare professionals are working in PCNs. Approximately 85% of Albertans receive care through a Primary Care Network.

MLA REPORT

from The Office of MLA Mark Smith,
Member of the Legislative Assembly
for Drayton Valley - Devon

February 4, 2020 - This last week Minister Shandro announced a highly anticipated and welcome review of Alberta's Healthcare System. The report, conducted by Ernst & Young LLP (EY), will look to maintain current healthcare spending while searching for greater efficiencies and more effective services for Albertans.

The review is the first in 10 years, since Alberta Health Services was formed. The report contains 57 recommendations and 72 savings opportunities to improve the quality and long-term sustainability of health services.

"The AHS review is a key commitment to Albertans, and I'm very excited about moving forward with implementation. Every dollar we save will be put right back into the health system to deliver on our promise to improve access and make the system work better for patients. It's about freeing up administrative resources so we can spend more directly on Albertans' health care."

Tyler Shandro, Minister of Health

The recommendations address four key areas: people, clinical services, non-clinical services and governance. The government accepts the report, with two important exceptions: there will be no hospital closures or consolidation of urban trauma centres.

Internal savings will allow more money to be directed to patients and front-line care, and will help free up funds for more surgeries while diminishing wait times. The report identifies a range of long-term savings initiatives with the potential to save between $1.5 billion to $1.9 billion annually.

Stakeholder input into the review process far exceeded any similar projects that Ernst & Young LLP (EY) has conducted across Canada. Staff engagement included feedback from about 1,200 physicians, 27,000 front-line staff and 4,200 AHS leaders.

Over the next 100 days, AHS will engage staff and clinical leaders as it develops a long-term implementation plan. The successful completion of this AHS review will fulfill an important platform committed to cut administrative costs while increasing patient care.

I am also excited to tell you about an incredible opportunity to honour and recognize those who help keep our communities safe. The Alberta Community Justice Awards acknowledge the people and organizations involved with crime prevention and community safety initiatives. This includes youth justice, restorative justice and other community-based justice efforts that improve safety and well-being.

Nominations close February 28 and the 29th Annual Alberta Community Justice Awards ceremony will take place in Edmonton in June.

Finally, in regards to our oil and gas sector, we have been receiving some great news and even better numbers. Since being elected, our government has focused on attracting investment and sending a strong message that Alberta is open for business.

I am happy to report that the Canadian Association of Petroleum Producers expects total investment in oil and gas will be $37 billion this year – up $2 billion from $35.1 billion in 2019. This investment will support approximately 8,100 jobs here in Alberta and 3,700 jobs in the rest of Canada. This is in addition to the 533,000 jobs that Alberta's energy industry provides across the country.
