Nisku, Alberta (January 18, 2021) - Black Gold School Division is excited to host its third annual 'Girls In STEM' Day on January 29, 2021.

This virtual event engages students in Grades 7-12 in Science, Technology, Engineering and Math-related (STEM) topics and highlights the vast career opportunities in these fields.

FREE Creative Connections activity kit for seniors and older adults

Do you know about all the services, supports and resources that are available to seniors and older adults who live in Leduc County, Calmar, Thorsby or Warburg? Are you looking for activities to keep you busy and connected to your family and friends while isolating at home?

"NOBODY SELLS MORE REAL ESTATE IN THIS AREA!"

MLA REPORT

from The Office of MLA Mark Smith,
Member of the Legislative Assembly
for Drayton Valley - Devon

Our Canadian parliamentary system of democracy is the result of a series of long struggles between ideas, powerful kings, the people and the exercise of political power. Through it all we have evolved a system of government that pursues ordered liberty. These two words would appear to be in opposition and yet the balanced combination of these two critical democratic values are foundational to protecting our way of life and will help us to live peacefully together. Unrestricted liberty results in societal anarchy only when individual freedom is bound by reasonable restrictions will all individuals in the wider society have true freedom. Ordered liberty is articulated in the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms when it says,

The Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms guarantees the rights and freedoms set out in it subject only to such reasonable limits prescribed by law as can be demonstrably justified in a free and democratic society.

Freedom is the foundational value in a democracy and in our Charter of Rights. Placing restrictions on our democratic freedoms should never be done lightly, yet it is sometimes necessary. When our freedoms are restricted those restrictions must meet the standard of reasonableness for a free and democratic society.

Recently, some constituents exercised their rights as engaged citizens and taped a series of posters of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms and a series of messages all over the front of the Drayton Valley-Devon Office in Drayton Valley, the Town Hall of Drayton Valley, and the Brazeau County offices. They believe that the recent pandemic restrictions placed on Albertans and their businesses are an unreasonable restriction of their Charter Rights and they exercised their right of free speech to send their message to me, their MLA.

So this begs the question, is the government acting unreasonably when it places Covid restrictions upon Albertans?

During this Covid pandemic the Alberta government has argued that it has a duty to protect both the lives and the livelihoods of Albertans. For me, the ordering of these two duties is important to recognize for it speaks to a hierarchy and to when a government can reasonably place restrictions on people. The primary reason I supported the latest round of temporary restrictions was to protect life, by temporarily placing restrictions on Albertans being able to congregate. It was regrettable that we had to temporarily enact these restrictions but it was, in my view, reasonable because we had to protect the lives of all Albertans by safeguarding their access to emergency care.

Are Albertans split on this issue? Absolutely, in this constituency I have had conversations and correspondence that represents all positions on this issue. For those Albertans who disagree with the Covid restrictions you are right to be concerned any time government unreasonably restricts democratic freedoms. Are these temporary restrictions unreasonable or do they meet the standard of reasonableness? I believe they are reasonable but I will also support your right to disagree with that conclusion. Good people can disagree but that disagreement needs to remain within the boundaries of the law and maintain our ordered liberty.

A Little Positivity

From Linda Eliasson

Daily words that share positive thoughts to ponder.
Just in Time to Inspire.

Today's Word:

IMBIBE

Ok, truth is, I really did not know the meaning of this word when I put my list together. I thought about leaving it out of the mix, then thought, it is always good to learn new words to increase your vocabulary.

To drink, down, swallow, guzzle and gulp. Sounds like a run-away after COVID party to me! Then thinking – how is this more mentally meaning full and positive? I gleaned that this may be to take in, and incorporate into.

So, you can help yourself and your health if you take in good wholesome foods and liquids. But some days you just need that junk food, carbs, glass of wine or comfort food and I say go for that, in moderation of course.

Some things we can also incorporate into our lives daily is positive thoughts. That is the main reason for me to share my words and thoughts with you. I do find, the more these days go by I notice the positivity in each and every day no matter how much of a bumner the day might give me.

Approaching things from a different angle can be very beneficial and totally gain new perspectives. Be open to learning and you will be surprised how good that feels!

Enjoy your day and may you spread your light, love, and Joy as you think today what IMBIBE means in your life!
