

THE BRETON BOOSTER

TERRY FOX MARATHON OF HOPE

On September 18 the The Terry Fox Run took place once again across Canada. Now in its 42nd year, the Terry Fox Run has evolved into the largest fundraising event in support of cancer research in the world, with events taking place in 33 countries across five continents annually—over 10,000 in Canada.

No matter who you are, someone we know has cancer, has been lost to cancer or has beaten it. This is just a reminder of Terry Fox's story and why so many participate each September.

Terry Fox was diagnosed with osteogenic sarcoma (bone cancer) in his right leg in 1977 and had his right leg amputated 15 cm above the knee. While in the hospital, Terry was so overcome by the suffering of other cancer patients that he decided to run across Canada to raise money for cancer research and he called his journey the Marathon of Hope.

Terry's Marathon of Hope took place in 1980 with the simple objective of informing Canadians of the importance of finding a cure for cancer. With fierce determination, he ran an average of 42 kilometres every day for 143 days.

On September 1, 1980 Terry was forced to end his run when the cancer spread to his lungs. By February 1, 1981, Terry's dream of raising $1 for every Canadian was realized - the Terry Fox Marathon of Hope fund totaled $24.17 million. Terry died on June 28, 1981

On May 26, 1988, the Terry Fox Run became a Trust, independent from the Canadian Cancer Society, as a registered public foundation. The Terry Fox Foundation (TFF) is a leading national charitable organization that honours the vision and spirit of an iconic Canadian. All runs are non-competitive, all inclusive, family-oriented activities where participants can run, walk, ride, or wheel.

Our next generation of students will be the ones to continue Terry's fight and lead this worthy cause towards his dream of a world without cancer.

Bits and Bytes

Village Council

The dropping temperatures are telling us fall is in the air and that also means that Village Council is busier than ever. Our last meeting on September 14th was packed with agenda items. The updated Animal Bylaw was given 2nd and 3rd reading to allow for our new Urban Hen Program!! Please check out the Village website for the program requirements and application.

Council has added an additional day of operation to the landfill for the winter months. Starting September 23rd, the landfill will be open Friday and Saturday from 10am to 4pm. This will run until April 30, 2023. We know that 4pm isn't ideal for everyone, however with the days becoming shorter into the winter months, operating the landfill in the dark isn't favorable. Instead of changing hours again in a few weeks it was decided to add an additional day. In the new year the summer hours will be reviewed and announced.

The Breton Community Centre is starting to see more events nowadays. A huge thanks to the Breton Elks and the Breton Ag Society for their very generous contributions of an audio-visual sound system. The system is 75% completed but there are currently supply chain delays for various components of the system so the completion date isn't known yet. Also, you will see the Public works Dynamic Duo milling around there this week getting ready for the concrete pour in the front of the building.

Starting September 30, 2022, the Village office will be closing on all Fridays. The ladies at the front counter will be there from Monday to Thursday, 8:30am to 4pm to help you with all your inquiries. In the event of an emergency, residents will be able to call or email an emergency contact. These contacts will be posted later this week on our website, Facebook page and also the front door of the Civic Centre. The cost savings of moving the Village office to a four day week will allow for additional resources in other areas, such as the increased landfill hours.

And lastly, we are excited to announce the return of the Breton Christmas Parade! The date is yet to be determined but we are so happy to be bringing back an evening parade of lights. So start planning now how you could light up your golf carts, quads, tractors, vehicles or even the kids and pets and plan to join in the festivities!! Keep an eye out for future announcements!

As many of you know all council meetings are open for the public to attend. Meetings happen the second Wednesday of every month with the next meeting being October 12th at 7:00 p.m. in Council Chambers of the Carolyn Strand Civic Centre. You don't have to speak or address the council to attend. Please feel free to drop in and see how your Council is working for the Village. If coming to a meeting isn't for you and you do have an idea or concern that you would like to have brought forward, please email it to cao@breton.ca and we will present it to Council on your behalf.

Breton Word of Faith CHURCH

LEARNING TO LIVE IN THE POWER OF GOD

Some key thoughts from the Bible:

- God loves us all!
- He is here to save us:
 - In eternity (heaven),
 - In issues we face in this present life.
- He does this through our relationship with Him. We each have our own role to play.
- Friends, spiritually speaking, we cannot just sit back and hope for the best. Many things happen in this life that are unfortunate and not part of God's good will for us.
- Church is about learning our role and pro-actively participating in relationship with Him.
- We are learning to live in the power of God.
- We are learning to live in His love.
- His love is a caring, positive, affirming environment.

AGE-FRIENDLY WORKPLACES: PROMOTING OLDER WORKER PARTICIPATION

As an employer, it has been very difficult to attract and retain workers but a knowledgeable and skilled workforce is key to our overall success. September 18 - 24 is National Employ Older Workers Week mostly celebrated in the US but this is a great opportunity to remind Albertans. Employers need to take action now to ensure that they are well-prepared and positioned to overcome the challenges ahead.

According to the Government of Canada's website, Canada's population is aging rapidly due to factors such as longer life expectancy, low birth rates and the aging of the "baby boomers" (those born between 1946 and 1965).

In 2011,

- one in seven Canadians was a senior aged 65 or older and Statistics Canada predicts that by 2036, this could increase to nearly one in four (25%);
- the first of the baby boomers began turning 65; and
- one out of six Canadians was an older worker, up from one in nine in 2001.

It is anticipated that skill shortages may occur in certain occupations and sectors of the economy due to an insufficient number of workers with required skill sets to replace those who will be retiring.

From an employer's perspective, this means that there could be a loss of knowledge, skills and experience, which may be difficult to replace. Consequences are expected to include lower efficiency and productivity levels, higher training costs, and higher wage and benefit costs for employers.

From an employee's perspective, many older working Canadians who could retire do not find traditional retirement appealing. A large number have the desire to work after the traditional retirement age, and their reasons are not just financial.

Employers have a tremendous opportunity to design and implement new approaches and strategies to recruit, retain and re-engage older workers.

Why consider older workers?

There are a number of reasons why you should consider including older workers as part of your workforce. Among the benefits are:

- Enabling a successful transfer of your organization's knowledge, skills and experience to your future leaders, as well as those to areas that require specialized expertise;
- Potentially reducing turnover and costs associated with hiring, training, and orienting new staff, as older workers tend to remain with employers for longer periods, resulting in fewer costs for hiring and training new staff
- Building on the networks, knowledge and experience of older workers, thereby adding value to your organization;
- Remaining competitive by attracting and retaining older workers to help address changes in labour force growth; and
- Potentially increasing productivity, as older workers tend to have a strong work ethic, work well in team settings and require minimal supervision.

Misconceptions about older workers

Research also shows that older workers have a strong desire to remain relevant through continuous learning and making use of their abilities, even as they approach retirement. Many older workers want to leave an organization knowing they have made a difference.

Myth: Older workers are less productive

Fact: Intellectual capacity and the ability to perform routine or repetitive tasks are not influenced by age. Rather, research shows that workers who perform the same tasks for a number of years enjoy the benefit of accumulated work experience, which also benefits you as their employer. However, physical strength does begin to diminish with age. Where physical strength is a key component of job performance, a slight decline in productivity may occur.

Myth: Older workers are quick to retire

Fact: Increasingly, employees do not view retirement as a set event, but rather a gradual process. Many older workers plan on remaining connected to the workforce in some way when they retire from their primary career. Statistics Canada conducted a survey of older workers between 50 and 75 years of age. Among respondents who were currently working, and had never retired (approximately 78% of the sample), over half indicated they plan to continue to work on a part-time basis when they retire.

Myth: Training older workers, who are likely to leave or retire is not cost-effective

Fact: Older workers tend to be loyal and are less likely to frequently change jobs. This is especially true if older workers know their efforts are appreciated and they are not faced with a mandatory retirement age. Regarding the issue of mandatory retirement, all jurisdictions across Canada have enacted human rights legislation which prohibits age discrimination in employment, with certain exceptions.

In a knowledge economy, the payback period on investment in training is becoming shorter for all workers, meaning that spending money on training older workers is likely to be recovered before those workers retire.

Myth: Older workers are less receptive to training

Fact: Baby boomers prefer working in challenging environments where they can improve their skill sets and careers. A job-related training study of older workers conducted by Statistics Canada shows that the participation rate in employer-supported training among workers aged 55-64 more than doubled between 1991 and 2008. The study also found that older workers were less likely to identify barriers to training.

Soul Care

This past weekend I had the privilege of hosting a Soul Care mini retreat. The significant take away from this weekend was this concept of 'Let Go'. As Fall approaches we are witnessing some amazing colors transform right before us, yet we know very soon...they will be gone, and we are reminded of this quote that comes along this time of year... "The trees are about to show us how lovely it is to let things go."

Letting go is never easy, we tend to hold on to things without even realizing it. Change is hard and complicated and some of us are exhausted from all the change that has happened and for some of us, change can't happen soon enough. No matter how you look at it, change is complex.

What changes have you gone through in the last few years?

Were they difficult? Were they easy?

Do you look forward to new seasons or are they filled with grief and loss?

Part of letting go is this idea of releasing things that are weighing us down in order for us to move forward.

Today I invite you to spend time with your heart and soul and reflect upon these questions.

What do you need to let go to move forward? Do you have an estranged relationship...let go... do you have broken dreams...let go...do you have hurt feelings...let go. I am not saying they are not important to work out, I am inviting you to release them to allow healing to start.

Many times, when we struggle with change, it is because we feel out of control.

I invite you to let go of all that has changed, will change, and needs to change and accept that we cannot control things, only our response to what is happening around us.

What if we changed this poster to say "God is about to show us how lovely it is to let things go"

When we release and let go of everything, we invite God to work it all out and this will give us a sense of His peace and calmness to see things in a new way.

Let Go. God's got this and He's got you.

Pastor Natasha Westerhoud
Breton Faith Covenant Church

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

Today, I write with my hat off.

Concerning the water problems of Rocky Rapids, several questions were not answered at a recent County Council meeting.

Do these residents (who are now experiencing problems with water quality) pay the full price? cost? of their water supply? If not, why not? How long has the County subsidized their water?

If I and all the rest of rural residents have a water or well problem, we pay the full price ourselves.

At one point, Council suggested every resident in the county should get a water conditioner at county expense. A great idea when the County is broke.

One councillor appears to have become a “two-issue” councillor. He proposed that the Council deal with the issue of changing the Procedural Bylaw one meeting before it was advertised. The change suggested is to NOT place letters to Council in the agenda. The reason—wait for it—hold your breath—is because (1 sheet of paper) it will make the agenda package too large,

For ideas like this Councillors pay themselves $50,000 a year—and the Reeve even more!!

Given that Council spent what appeared to be ½ hour to debate this issue but found only 20 minutes to deal with a $6 – 10 million machinery replacement issue is ridiculous. We are in a sad state of affairs. They did move to have a “workshop” to deal with the issue—public excluded.

Mr. Swap suggested that the proposed 474 road (for the benefit of one family) if built “. . . people would use it.” Only in the movies, sir! (cf 474 – RR 44 -45). If the proposed road is approved, it will be the most expensive cow trail in the county—or even the province!

Lastly, regarding a proposal to use old oil patch pipes and pump air through them to create electricity—did they consult experts to determine the safety of such a proposal? It is my understanding that to push air through old oil and gas pipes is asking for an explosion. If true—why the rush to support the proposal? (Remember Fiscal Energy fiasco)
