National Day for Truth and Reconciliation

On September 30, let's recognize, honour and educate ourselves about Canada's Indigenous people in efforts to understand the historical treatment within the residential school system and the children who survived or never returned home from them.

Orange Shirt Day

Since 2013, Orange Shirt Day – an Indigenous-led initiative – aims to raise awareness of residential school survivors, their families, communities and the inter-generational impacts they had.

The orange shirt symbolizes stripping away the culture, freedom and self-esteem experienced by Indigenous people through the generations. Specifically, in 1973 when six-year-old Phyllis Webstad proudly wore a new orange shirt for her first day of school at St. Joseph Mission Residential School and was stripped of her clothes (and orange shirt) to never wear again.

Visit orangeshirtday.org to read more about Phyllis' story and the Orange Shirt Society.

Join Leduc County Family Resource Network (FRN), Creating Hope Society and other agencies on September 30 to celebrate and participate in this year's theme "Calling Back our Spirits". The day will start at 11 a.m. at Metro Cinema in Edmonton with a pipe ceremony followed by a viewing of WAAPAKE documentary.

From 5 to 10 p.m. join us at Boyle Street Plaza (9538 103Avenue, Edmonton) for a round dance.

Everyone welcome to attend!

Our FRN would like to know how you and your friends and family participate in Truth and Reconciliation (TRC)! It's a show, tell and learn opportunity for everyone.

Send us an email with a pic or a note sharing what you do to support TRC or what it means to you to frn@leduc-county.com to be entered for a prize basket. We look forward to hearing from you!

Have you ever wondered what happened After Oz? The book written by Gordon McAlpine will tell you what happened after Oz? (from the book) "Kansas, 1896. After a tornado destroys the Gale family farm, eleven year old Dorothy goes missing. As the days pass by, the Gales are increasingly terrified the worst has happened, But when the girl turns up unharmed four days later, the towns folks breathe in a sigh of relief. That is, until Dorothy herself relates her account of the events that took place after her disappearance.

In vivid detail, Dorothy describes a fantastical land and its magical inhabitants from a talking scarecrow and lion to a tin man and a wizard and witch. Her recollections are regarded as not only delusional but also pagan and diabolical in nature, especially when the body of a local spinster is found. Making connections between the evil witch Dorothy claims to have defeated and the ill tempered old crone, authorities find what they believe to be incriminating evidence, sentencing Dorothy to the Topeka Insane Asylum.

When twenty eight year old psychologist Dr Evelyn Grace Wilford arrives at the asylum to interview Dorothy, She begins to wonder if Dorothy truly committed the crime or if something unfathomable has really occurred. In a small town full of insidious secrets, will Evelyn be able to save Dorothy from her terrible circumstances? Or is something menacing lurking just out of sight?

I have read this book, borrowed from the Warburg Library and give it 5/5 stars, well written, the Author pulls you right into the book, as I rooted for Dorothy! Excellent read and I definitely recommend this book as your next read!

A Little Bit of History WARBURG MUSEUM

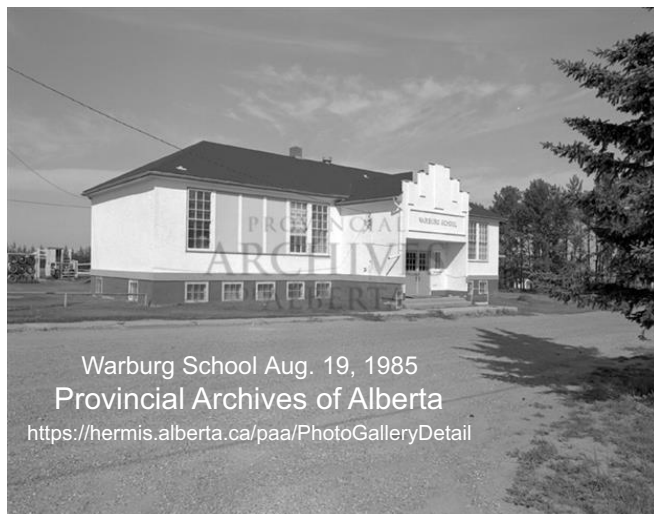

information from www.hermis.alberta.ca

This Warburg Museum is a one-storey, two-room schoolhouse located on in the Village of Warburg. It is significant for its architectural representation of school design in the 1940s, and for its status as a local landmark.

The Warburg Museum is also significant for its association with the institution of Warburg School District #2230. The school district was established as the Sunnybrook School District #2230 on July 9, 1910 and was renamed the Warburg School District #2230 in 1934. The original one-room school was built during the winter of 1912-1913 on SE-1-49-1-W5 at a cost of approximately $1000. The one-room school was moved to Warburg in 1935, and was later demolished. The existing two-room school was built in 1940 at its current location on SW-35-48-3-W5.

The Warburg Museum has an architectural plan and design representative of county schools built in the 1940s. The symmetrical plan of the building, with a central entrance with one classroom on either side, was typical of the design of 1940s schools.

The Warburg Museum is also significant for its status as a local landmark. The building is located on 50th Street, a main thoroughfare entering Warburg. The building's location and its representative design make it easily recognizable for passing motorists and local residents of Warburg. The building is also familiar to residents of Warburg as many early area residents attended the school as children, prior to the construction of the new, modern school building in 1954. The Warburg School continues to serve Warburg and area as a community museum.

Head down to the Warburg Museum for pie and coffee from 1-4pm the first and third Saturday of each month or arrange a tour through Susie 780-848-2507 or Joan 780-621-7174

Thorsby today has so much to celebrate! The summer was amazing, starting with the birthday party in May and winding up with the Spirit of 'Thor'sby on September 7.

It is amazing to look around and see our diverse community in action. With familiar faces standing next to our newest arrivals, we came together to acknowledge our past, and lay a foundation for a vibrant future.

We owe huge thanks to everyone who worked so hard to make these fabulous events possible.

Of course, the library was present and participating, a place for community and learning, part of Thorsby's beating heart.

As the nights get longer, and we spend more time indoors, it might be time to look at our amazing collection of cookbooks.

What better way to explore the world and experience different cultures at home than through food?

"A Persian Kitchen Table" introduces us to a new world of flavours and experience with photos and explanations that invite us on a magical journey.

"Mitji - Let's Eat!" shares stories and recipes from the Mi'kmaq district of Sikniqtuk. Each chapter starts with a story, and each recipe is accompanied by a wealth of traditional knowledge and wisdom.

"The Mexican Home Kitchen", Sambal Shiok, the Malaysian Cookbook" and "New Indian Basics" all offer amazing recipes and taste adventures.

For those looking for collections of world recipes, "The World in my Kitchen", the "Cookbook in Support of the United Nations", and "A Bartender's Guide to the World" offer samplings of recipes from different places.

Whether you want to try something new to brighten a fall evening, revisit familiar favourites, or simply immerse yourself in books that offer a treat for the senses, our cookbooks do all that, and more!

FOCUS ON HEALTH

10 Ways to Build Healthy Family Habits

Getting the whole family involved in healthy living is food for everyone-good for parents and grandparents who are active in TOPS, good for teens struggling with their weight and good for preventing obesity in young children. These tips can help you get started.

1. Are you getting some amount of activity daily? A quick walk in the morning and a game of tag in the afternoon with your kids counts, too.
2. Try to set house rules that encourage healthy behavior. Talk as a family about what the rules should be and set an example.
3. Take up exergaming. These are video games that require movement. Many of these games can get your heart pumping and build strength.
4. For family night, try something active. Go bowling, take a hike or go to a water park.
5. Set a family rule that no one gets more than two hours a day of electronic "screen time." This includes TV, video games, internet and cell phones.
6. If you don't have time to go grocery shopping once or twice a week, and fast food keeps finding its way into the house, adjust the family schedule.
7. Track your goals. Making a chart with pasteboard and stickers may work well for a family with young children, while teens may prefer to write in a journal.
8. Younger children often are not excited about a fitness video. Talk about which activities can be fun. For some children, it is sports. For some it may be martial arts.
9. Take a look at your home environment and think about which you can change to support healthy choices.
10. Reach out to other parents or parenting professionals to develop skills to move your family in a healthy direction.

4. Add wine and sage to the skillet. Simmer until wine is reduced by half, about 2 minutes. Pour in chicken stock and pumpkin; stir until sauce starts to bubble. Return sausage to the skillet. Reduce heat and stir in half-and-half. Season sauce with cinnamon, nutmeg, salt, and pepper. Simmer until sauce thickens, 5 to 10 minutes.
5. Pour pumpkin cream sauce over the pasta. Toss over low heat for 1 minute. Taste and adjust seasoning.

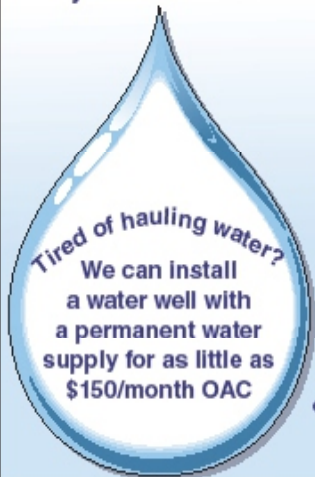

Cook's Note:

- Substitute freshly grated nutmeg for the ground nutmeg if desired.
