MUNICIPAL ELECTION 2025

Are you ready to make a difference in your community?

October 20, 2025 is election day for Municipalities! There has never been a better time to run, you know your community and its needs best.

If you're considering running for local council, the Alberta Municipalities (ABmunis) and Rural Municipalities of Alberta (RMA) are hosting webinars to help you prepare for this year's election. In these engaging sessions, you'll learn about the roles and responsibilities of local office, how it compares to federal and provincial governments, and the incredible rewards that come with serving your community. You'll also get an inside look at how councils are structured, what's expected of council members, and the unique impact you can have in a municipality. They will have guest speakers from local councils who will share their personal experiences leading small Alberta municipalities. Plus, there will be a Q&A session where you can ask questions and gain valuable insights on what it's like to be a local elected official.

Community Volunteer Income Tax Program – FREE INCOME TAX PREPARATION - For low income persons, families, seniors and students. Although this is something that most of us would like to avoid thinking about and doing, I am afraid that this is unavoidable. You need to file your income tax each year, even if you have no income to report. By doing this you may receive benefits that you did not know you were eligible for. Also, in the event of the death of your spouse, benefits can easily be transferred to you, if you have filled a return for the last calendar year. If you did not file a tax return in 2024 you may not be receiving benefits from the government that you are eligible for. The focus of the Community Volunteer Tax Program is to assist those individuals who have limited income. This includes seniors, families, and students. If your income was approximately in one of the following categories, you may qualify for assistance.

1 person - $35,000/*Couple $45,000/Family - $52,500

We are not able to complete returns with income from the following sources: Capital Gains or Losses, Farming Income, Rental Income, Self-Employment, Interest exceeding $1,000, Bankruptcies, Deceased Persons

This service is FREE to those who qualify. If you require this service, please gather your information, and bring it to the Village of Breton office Monday to Thursday between 8:30am-4pm.

Clients will be notified when your return is completed. The program will run from March 3 – April 30, 2025.

We require the following information to complete your return:

WHAT IS A BILLION?

Submitted by email, found on the internet

This is true and rather hard to really understand.

The next time you hear a politician use the word 'billion' in a casual manner, think about whether you want the politicians' spending YOUR tax money.

A billion is a difficult number to comprehend, but one advertising agency did a good job of putting that figure into some perspective in one of its releases.

1. A billion seconds ago, it was 1993.
2. A billion minutes ago, Jesus was alive.
3. A billion hours ago, our ancestors were living in the Stone Age.
4. A billion days ago, no-one walked on the earth on two feet.
5. A billion Dollars ago was only 13 hours and 12 minutes, at the rate our present government is spending it.

We are charged:

- Stamp Duty
- Tobacco Tax
- Corporate Income Tax
- Income Tax
- Council Tax
- Unemployment Tax
- Fishing License Tax
- Petrol/Diesel Tax
- Inheritance Tax (tax on top of tax)
- Alcohol Tax
- G.S.T.
- Property Tax
- Purchase Property Tax
- Tax on Title Searches
- Tax on Building Inspections
- Tax on supplements
- Taxes on various food items
- Taxes on Dining out
- Tax on all utilities – Phone, hydro, water, waste disposal
- Service charge taxes
- Social Security Tax
- Vehicle License / Registration Tax
- Vehicle Sales Tax
- Workers Compensation Tax
- And now Carbon Tax

AND I'm sure you can think of more.....

STILL THINK THIS IS FUNNY?

Not one of these taxes existed 60 years ago, and our nation was one of the most prosperous in the world. We had absolutely no national debt.

We had the largest middle class in the world.

A criminal's life was uncomfortable.

What on earth happened?

I hope this goes around CANADA

Alberta News, March 27, 2025

Alberta's government is fulfilling its promise to end Automated Traffic Enforcement (ATE) in select locations while enhancing safety with a new Traffic Safety Fund.

For years, Alberta has had the most ATE sites of any jurisdiction in Canada with many serving as a "cash cow," generating millions of dollars in revenue with no clear evidence they were improving traffic safety. Now, following thorough consultation and review of existing ATE sites, Alberta's government is making significant changes to restore public trust in the use of photo radar.

Effective April 1, the updated ATE Technology Guideline will prohibit photo radar on numbered provincial highways and connectors, restricting it only to school, playground and construction zones. Intersection safety devices in Alberta will also be limited to red light enforcement only, ending the "speed-on-green" ticketing function.

"We have officially killed the photo radar cash cow and the revenue-generating 'fishing holes' that made Alberta the biggest user of photo radar in Canada. The updated guideline will ensure that photo radar is used for safety only. The new provincial traffic safety fund will support municipalities in physical improvements at key intersections, helping to reduce traffic risks and enhance safe roads." Devin Dreeschen, Minister of Transportation and Economic Corridors

Alberta's government has also created a new $13-million Traffic Safety Fund for municipalities to upgrade local roads and intersections that pose demonstrated safety risks. Details will be made available on how to apply for the Traffic Safety Fund, once the application process has been finalized.

"This shift ensures that photo radar is used where it matters most – near schools, playgrounds and construction zones. Traffic enforcement should be about protecting people, not generating revenue. The new Traffic Safety Fund gives municipalities the tools to make targeted improvements to roads and intersections with real safety concerns. Keeping Edmontonians safe on our streets must always remain the priority." Tim Cartmell, Pihêsiwin councillor, City of Edmonton

"Shifting photo radar to playgrounds and construction zones enhances safety where it matters most – protecting our children and workers on Calgary's roads. I'm proud to back this important step toward safer communities." Dan McLean, Ward 13 councillor, City of

Calgary

"The Traffic Safety Fund is a welcome addition to the overall funding available to municipalities. The Rural Municipalities of Alberta support a dynamic approach to managing traffic safety." Kara Westerlund, president, Rural Municipalities of Alberta

Municipalities are encouraged to use traffic calming measures instead of photo radar but may request provincial approval for an exemption to the photo radar ban in high-collision locations. To do so, municipalities must submit a business case detailing high-collision frequency and severity at the site, relative to similar locations, and demonstrate how other safety measures are not possible or will be ineffective. To be approved for an exemption, they must also commit to audit the exempted site every two years to assess the effectiveness of photo radar in reducing collisions at that location.

The updated ATE Technology Guideline also includes parameters around equipment testing and maintenance, data collection and reporting requirements, traffic safety plans, signage and public communication of photo radar locations.

Quick facts:

- On April 1, the new ATE 2025 Technology Guideline comes into force.
- The newly created Traffic Safety Fund will provide $13 million over three years to help municipalities re-engineer intersections to reduce collisions:
 - $1 million in 2025-26
 - $2 million in 2026-27
 - $10 million in 2027-28
- Alberta first introduced photo radar in 1987.

PROTECTING HOMES AND BUSINESSES FROM DROUGHT AND FLOODS

Alberta News, March 27, 2025

Alberta is investing more than $19 million through Budget 2025, if passed, to help protect families and businesses from future floods and drought.

In recent years, drought and flooding have been felt across the province, and building the critical infrastructure needed to protect Albertans can be costly for many municipalities. That's why Alberta's government is investing more than $19 million in 10 different projects through the Drought and Flood Protection Program to protect homes, safeguard businesses and, ultimately, save lives.

These 10 projects will help protect critical infrastructure from floods, while increasing water storage to reduce the impacts of drought and build other necessary projects across the province.

"Albertans have seen first-hand the impacts that floods and drought can have on our communities and livelihoods. This funding is helping communities build the next generation of drought and flood mitigation projects. While we can't change the weather, we can help protect families, businesses and communities for years to come." Rebecca Schulz, Minister of Environment and Protected Areas

This funding will help eight municipalities and two First Nations build projects designed to keep homes and businesses dry, ensure critical infrastructure remains operational during emergencies and maintain reliable access to water. This includes community upgrades such as:

- Building a retaining wall to protect the Slave Lake Airport and Helitack Base during floods.
- Constructing a berm to safeguard Siksika Nation's newly constructed Washington Sewage Lagoon and other local infrastructure.
- Building 300 metres of shoreline protection along the South Saskatchewan River to protect the Medicine Hat Wastewater Treatment Plant.
- Stopping erosion along Carrot Creek to help protect infrastructure in St. Albert.
- Creating a naturalized stormwater management pond in St. Paul to reduce drought risks and improve water quality.
- Improving flood protections in the Calgary area by replacing the Landon Ditch with a system to manage stormwater and guard infrastructure.

"By investing in preventative erosion measures now, we will be minimizing the impacts of large storm events for St. Albertans and our municipal neighbors in the future. It is through partnerships with the Government of Alberta such as these that we can efficiently build resilient communities across the province." Cathy Heron, mayor, St. Albert

"Lake Elizabeth and its surrounding natural space are a treasured part of our city. Rising water levels over the past decade have eroded the shoreline, flooded natural areas, and threatened both private property and city infrastructure. The Drought and Flood Protection grant is critical to stabilizing the water levels and restoring these valuable natural spaces, ensuring that Lake Elizabeth remains a community asset for generations to come." Grant Creasey, mayor, City of Lacombe

"This is good news for the county, as we work to manage surface storm water issues for the benefit of all residents." Bart Guyon, reeve, Brazeau County

"The investment confirmed by the Government of Alberta will help the City of Medicine Hat's plans to reduce the risk of flood damage to the Wastewater Treatment Plant. Combining this funding, along with the city's contributions, will aid in providing shoreline protection, flood risk management, environmental protection, operational safety and sustainability." Pat Bohan, managing director of development and infrastructure, City of Medicine Hat

Alberta's government is investing $125 million over five years into the Drought and Flood Protection Program, which is already showing results. Last year, the government delivered millions to counties, towns, cities and Indigenous partners for infrastructure projects, which are now underway. In total, more than $50 million has now been invested in 28 projects through the program.

The next round of funding applications will open in October, with another $25 million available to protect businesses, families and communities.

Budget 2025 is meeting the challenge faced by Alberta with continued investments in education and health, environmental protection, lower taxes for families and a focus on the economy.

Quick facts:

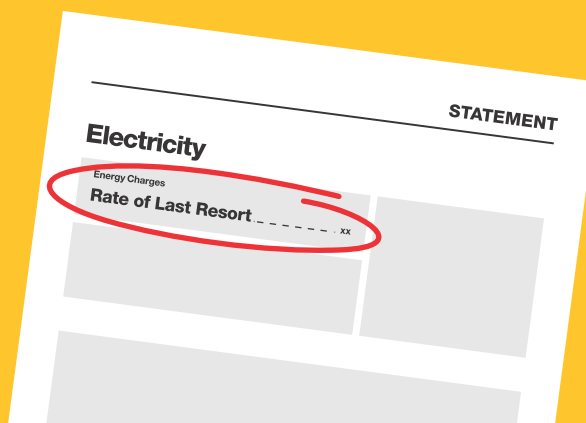

- Funding for all projects approved in this round will be paid out in 2025-26.
- Of the 10 projects receiving funding, seven are focused on primarily responding to floods, one focused on responding to the impacts of drought and two are focused on mitigating impacts from both drought and floods.
- Of the 18 projects receiving funding in round one, 10 were focused on responding to the impacts of drought.
- In round one of funding, $5,727,119 was deferred to 2025-26, with $5 million going to the Fort McKay Water Supply Infrastructure Rehabilitation and $727,119 going to the Glenmore Trail Stormwater Diversion Project.

SAVING MONEY AND IMPROVING RECYCLING

Alberta News, March 31, 2025

Alberta's new extended producer responsibility programs will start saving taxpayers money and keep more waste out of landfills.

Alberta is entering a new era of recycling and waste management to keep more waste out of landfills. Starting April 1, Alberta's new extended producer responsibility (EPR) will begin reducing waste, improving recycling programs and saving communities and taxpayers money. The provincewide shift to EPR includes programs, services and communities transforming throughout 2025 and 2026, which will ultimately keep thousands of kilograms of waste out of Alberta landfills.

"This new system will keep more waste out of landfills while saving communities and taxpayers money. And we're doing it without creating more work or costs for Albertans or making them change their recycling habits." Rebecca Schulz, Minister of Environment and Protected Areas

"By working with industry, municipalities and provincial partners, we've created a made-in-Alberta EPR solution that helps advance our priority of responsible waste management. We're grateful for the strong support of the Government of Alberta as we work together to grow our province's circular economy through EPR." Ed Gugenheimer, chief executive officer, Alberta Recycling Management Authority

"The province made a wise decision with EPR. It is a big win for the economy, the environment, and a splendid example of how we achieve great things when municipalities and the province work together. Calgarians will see the benefits immediately in their blue cart fees, but all over Alberta people will get clearer recycling rules and less waste in their landfills. This is only the beginning of the good it will do." Peter Demong, councillor, Ward 14, City of Calgary

Reducing waste and improving recycling

EPR shifts the financial burden of recycling single-use products away from municipalities and onto the companies that produce those packages and products. By making producers responsible, EPR encourages them to find new ways to reduce waste and design products that are more recyclable and reusable.

Alberta's EPR programs include thousands of different single-use products, packaging and paper, along with hazardous and special products like batteries and pesticides. Starting April 1, most municipalities, including all major Alberta cities, will operate under the new EPR programs, representing more than 90 per cent of Alberta's population.

Some municipalities need more time to transition and will join EPR in July, while a small number of communities will join in 2026 – some getting recycling service for the first time in their history.

Saving money

These new systems will centralize, standardize and streamline recycling among Alberta municipalities, which will help reduce costs in many cases.

While each community is unique, many communities have already indicated that taxpayers will save money. For example, Calgary, Red Deer and Lethbridge have all recently publicly indicated that recycling fees can likely be lowered thanks to the new system.

Alberta's government and the Alberta Recycling Management Authority will continue working closely with producers and municipalities to help them implement the EPR programs.

Quick facts:

- Albertans send 1,034 kilograms per person of waste to landfills annually – more than any other Canadian jurisdiction. The national average is 710 kilograms per year.
- EPR has two programs that focus on two main types of waste materials:
 - Single-use products, packaging and printed paper.
 - Hazardous and special products like batteries or flammable materials.
- As of March 17, 99 per cent of all curbside recycling contracts are in-place for the April 1 start date.
 - All First Nations and Métis communities have also been contacted and most have registered to participate in the October 2026 intake date.
- The Alberta Recycling Management Authority, which has managed regulated recycling programs for used oil, paint, tires and electronics for more than 30 years, is overseeing the new EPR systems.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor

It is with a great deal of interest that it was noted that a local Brazeau resident received the King Charles III Coronation Medal.

This medal was set up to commemorate King Charles and Camilla's coronation (May 6, 2023 – Google). It is awarded for "... significant contribution to Canada ... or to ... community ..."

Since it was awarded to Mr. Guyon (Reeve), one has to wonder about its meaningfulness. Consider the following: He leads a group that

- Overspent its revenue by $35 - $40 million with reserves now at zero or close to it;
- Didn't follow FOIP regulations (according to a government adjudicator);
- Had several codes of conduct issues;
- Removed development fees to the extent that his 50+ development permits are subsidized by taxpayers for undetermined value of possibly in the hundreds of thousands of dollars;
- Is currently waiting for a court appearance concerning actions on council;
- Cannot or won't provide answers to simple questions like the "money spent on legal costs last year";
- As a large landowner, he benefits most from the tax rebate.

How many other counties would make the same claims?

To distort a famous remark "some award, some recipient."

Come to your own conclusions.

Finally, it seems to this writer that the above issues (and others) would be less of a problem if the province initiated a committee (or three) to conduct random, unannounced "corporate reviews." These reviews would need attention to some compulsory items along with other optional recommendations.

At a girl's college hostel, dates were permitted only on Saturday nights.

One young man showed up on a Tuesday evening, explaining to an older woman in the lobby of the dorm that it was imperative he see a certain young lady immediately.

"I want to surprise her. You see, I'm her brother."

"Oh, she'll be surprised all right," said the woman. "But think of how surprised I am! I'm her mother!"
